

Excluding scholarships, financial support must be readily available liquid assets or cash equivalents (i.e. either a checking or savings account) which can easily be transferred to the United States.

As you enter your anticipated amount of financial support, you should keep the following in mind:

- You must provide all amounts in U.S. Dollars. Use xe.com as a currency converter if necessary.
- You are not expected to demonstrate more than the cost of attendance for one year.
- You may enter projected/estimated support for years 2-4. However, this is not required.

Supporting Financial Documentation

You will need to verify your anticipated financial support by providing supporting documentation, which may include one or more of the following:

- A bank statement for your personal funds, or funds from parent(s) or guardian(s), or individual sponsors other than a parent or guardian.
- A scholarship award letter or financial support letter for support from a private organization or government agency.
- You can email supporting documentation to admission@nec.edu

All documents must meet the following criteria:

- Issued no more than 9 months before the application deadline.
- Written in English, or you will need to attach a certified English translation.
- Amounts should be in U.S. Dollars, or you will need to attach a currency conversion.

Furthermore, your documents will need to meet additional criteria which is specific to the document type:

Bank Statement:

All submitted bank statements must include all of the following information:

- Bank name
- Account holder's name
